

-
- All Drayton Hall interpreters are trained in ethical interpretation techniques.
 - Drayton Hall partners with local organizations including the Center for Heirs Property and the Avery Institute. Our partnerships include sharing financial proceeds from tours and hosting paid internships.
 - Drayton Hall provides free access to archival documents and genealogical materials online and in person at Drayton Hall and at Special Collections at the College of Charleston's Addlestone Library.
 - The exhibits in Drayton Hall's interpretive center were created in partnership with a diverse team of scholars including Dr. Bernard Powers and Dr. Millicent Brown.
 - Drayton Hall is governed by a Board of Trustees with various professional, cultural, and lived experiences. A list of our trustees is publicly available on our website, www.draytonhall.org.
 - The tour of Drayton Hall is largely focused on African American history.
 - Drayton Hall's Historic Caretaker's House is specifically devoted to the site's African American History.
 - Primary documents specifically related to people enslaved by the Draytons are located prominently in Drayton Hall and referenced repeatedly on each house tour.
 - The landscape audio tour emphasizes African American history.
 - Drayton Hall actively advocates for the Ashley River region, the conservation of historic lands of natural and cultural significance, and the preservation of everyone's history.
-

-
- All Drayton Hall interpreters are trained in ethical interpretation techniques.
 - Drayton Hall partners with local organizations including the Center for Heirs Property and the Avery Institute. Our partnerships include sharing financial proceeds from tours and hosting paid internships.
 - Drayton Hall provides free access to archival documents and genealogical materials online and in person at Drayton Hall and at Special Collections at the College of Charleston's Addlestone Library.
 - The exhibits in Drayton Hall's interpretive center were created in partnership with a diverse team of scholars including Dr. Bernard Powers and Dr. Millicent Brown.
 - Drayton Hall is governed by a Board of Trustees with various professional, cultural, and lived experiences. A list of our trustees is publicly available on our website, www.draytonhall.org.
 - The tour of Drayton Hall is largely focused on African American history.
 - Drayton Hall's Historic Caretaker's House is specifically devoted to the site's African American History.
 - Primary documents specifically related to people enslaved by the Draytons are located prominently in Drayton Hall and referenced repeatedly on each house tour.
 - The landscape audio tour emphasizes African American history.
 - Drayton Hall actively advocates for the Ashley River region, the conservation of historic lands of natural and cultural significance, and the preservation of everyone's history.
-